

Data Field Categories

Data Aquarium Framework forces you to break down the data fields displayed in form views into categories. At least one category must be present in any form view. A form view is displaying a single record at a time, when users are viewing, editing, or creating a new record. Here is an example of the customer form view in application generated from Northwind database. A single category Customers includes all data fields.

Let's create a few categories to better present the fields and make it easier to work with customer records.

Open ~/Controllers/Customers.xml file, locate view editForm1 and change the data field categories as follows.

<view id="editForm1" type="Form" commandId="command1" label="Review Customers">

<headerText>Please review customers information below. Click Edit to change this record,

click Delete to delete the record, or click Cancel/Close to return back.</headerText>
